Dear Dr Jenish Rajma

It is a pleasure welcoming you to the Post Graduate Program in Pediatric Nutrition (PGPN) 2017.

Launched in 2014, PGPN has been successfully achieving its goal of helping busy healthcare professionals (HCPs) upgrade their knowledge and practice skills in pediatric nutrition. This program is brought to you by MedInscribe, in association with Boston University School of Medicine (BUSM), and is supported by Nestlé Nutrition Institute.

Over 6000 HCPs from more than 60 countries have benefitted from PGPN globally; we are confident that you will find this program extremely useful for your pediatric practice.

To download the course curriculum for this program, please click here.

We have designed each module with the latest information to help you to integrate pediatric nutrition into your clinical practice and to familiarize you with evidence-based guidelines and recommendations on key aspects of pediatric nutrition.

Please log in to your PGPN account to access the online modules. We believe these modules will enrich your knowledge of pediatric nutrition.

We highly appreciate your interest in this program and look forward to your active participation.

Warm regards

Dr. Carine M Lenders
