National undergraduate conference in Neurology & Endocrinology – UGBeaCON April 19, 20 & 21 - 2018

The Department of Physiology and Department of Medicine conducted UGBeaCON 2018, a National Undergraduate Conference in Neurophysiology and Endocrinology from 19.4.2018 to 21.4.2018 with Dr S. Anu, HOD of Physiology as the Organizing Secretary and Dr Chandrasekar, Prof and HOD of Medicine, Dr Vadivel murugan, Prof of Medicine, Dr Anguvijayan, Associate Prof of Medicine as Organizing Chairman for the conference. The conference was accredited with 30 credit points under Dr MGR Medical University. It was attended by 26 colleges from all over Tamilnadu and Pondicherry.

The grand event was well planned in advance. Students were grouped to various committees: Organizing Committee, Registration Committee, Accommodation Committee, Catering Committee, Workshop Committee, Scientific Committee and Committee for events like Quiz, Debate and Role Play. Each committee consisted of around 20-25 students, of which one student was chosen as the leader. One month before the event, all the committee members were given instructions by the Physiology department staff regarding how to communicate, present themselves and organize events. The very objective of grouping the students into committees was primarily to inculcate in the minds of students, the idea of working as a team and to streamline the assigned activities for the event. The concept of having committees worked out so well that, students were able to express confidently their ideas, explore more and execute their plans by themselves.

The Organizing Committee was headed by Tamil Nila (Pre-Final Year), Mohammed rayeez (third year), Prasanna Venkatesh (Second Year). The Organizing committee members were so enthusiastic and sincere that they were able to draft the framework of UGbeaCON at the earliest and gave directions to various other committees. The Registration Committee members were tirelessly striving for days together, to sort out the list of various participants and were prompt in notifying the instructions regarding the events to all those who have registered for the conference. They were humble enough to answer the queries of the participants over phone at any time, any day. And, that shall be the best way to develop soft skills in any individual.

The student leader of each and every other committee had the opportunity to take up responsibility of that particular event, coordinate the set of his team members, assign them duties, communicate with the superiors and direct the plans on the day of action. Thus, it was indeed an evolving experience for the committee leaders. Not only did our students organize the workshops under the guidance of Dr. Rekha, but also took part in the workshops with zest and zeal.

Accommodation for the visiting students and faculties, well appreciated by every student and faculty, was arranged in the Velammal Medical college hostel itself by Dr John Rajpathy. The Accommodation Committee was headed by Santhosh (Second Year) and Sethuraman (Second Year). Dr Shanthi from the Physiology department who was the treasurer of the conference also took charge of the food and refreshments for all the three days. Senthil Kannan (Second Year) was the student in charge of the Catering Committee.

The second day started with the inauguration of the conference. Quiz on UG Neurophysiology and Psychiatry began. From a total of 18 teams, the top 5 teams were selected from a preliminary written exam and the final quiz was conducted. The Quiz master was Dr J Keba from the Department of Physiology. The Quiz Committee, headed by Allen David (Second Year) had the wonderful experience of having worked with Dr Keba in planning the various interesting rounds of quiz and in the process, they learnt a lot of Neurophysiology too!

In the afternoon Debate prelims, Case and Paper presentations were organized. A debate prelim was conducted by Dr Vallish from the Department of Pharmacology, helped by debate committee members to select the final list of teams. The Scientific Committee under the guidance of Dr. Saravanan, took up the whole responsibility of conducting the Case presentations and Paper Presentations. Well, they were extremely organized right from the introduction of the judges, guiding the various presentations, helping the participants with technical problems (audio-visuals), helping the presenters stick on to time and finally felicitating the judges. Our students were also deeply engrossed in the awe of new ideas in the form of papers and were amused by learning clinical medicine in a different way, through cases being presented by participants from various colleges. This is how our students got to improve their personality and professional skills too.

Dr Subramanian, Rheumatologist in VMC, gave a speech about career guidance that helped students to expand their employability skills. After the lectures, Role play event started which was won by Coimbatore Medical College. The event was organized by Dr Kaniethapriya from Department of Physiology and the Role Play Committee was headed by Vaira Praveena (Second Year). It is always innovative and attractive as well, to have role play as an important event in a scientific conference. It opened up a new dimension of comprehending medicine and this idea of Role plays inspired the participants as well as the organizing students of our college. The Off-stage events were organized by the faculties of the Physiology Department.

All the competitive events were conducted separately for Velammal students also and judged by faculties from other medical colleges. This gave the students a huge encouragement, confidence and induced an interest to take part in various other competitions thereafter. Feedbacks was received from the students as well as from the visiting faculty. It was during this new experience of befriending new students, guiding them regarding various events, accommodating them with comfort, solving their queries, serving them delicious food and sending them off with a smile on their faces, our students learnt a lot of hospitality and human values! As a whole, UGBeaCON served as an extraordinary platform for the students to learn the art of organizing events, communication skills & leadership, experience the joy of working together, evidence various talents from across the states, discover new friends and explore a great deal of Medicine!
