Novelicious National Reading Day Event 2024

NOVELICIOUS: The National Reading Day event commenced with a traditional touch of the “Tamizh Thaaai Vaazhthu” and a welcome address by the Head of Students’ Literature club, Mr. Shrinath, welcoming all the enthusiastic doctors and eager students gathered to witness the event.

With that, the on stage Events for the National Reading Day Competitions started. The judges of these events were Dr. Rajashekar HOD Department of ENT and Dr. Reena Rosalind HOD Department of Psychiatry. The first event was the Extemporaneous story telling, which was conducted both in Tamil and English, where the participants were given a prompt 4 minutes preparation time prior to their ascent on to the stage. The participant had to start off from their prompt and spin their own story and narrate it within a stipulated time of 4 minutes. The judging was based on their language skills, creativity, body language, plot and the finishing touch to the story.

The second event was the Book Critique, conducted in both English and Tamil, where Participants introduced the audience to a book they have read and gave a short snippet persuading them to read the book as well. The judging criteria was based on language, creativity and body language. Each participant got four minutes to present their book.

With the on-stage set to a finish, the results for off stage event The Unknown Angle, English and Tamil were announced. The judges were Dr Rajendran HOD Department of Microbiology and Dr Praisie Assistant Professor Department of General Medicine.

This event gave an opportunity to the readers to give a new perspective about the character that touched their hearts unlike the originally nuanced arc given by the author or the unsung characters of the story, convincing the fellow readers to go back to the book with a new perspective.

After a short recess, the most awaited “ACCIO POTTERHEAD” Harry Potter series finale Quiz took place with the shortlisted 5 teams from the prelims round that was conducted on June 17, 2024. It consisted of five rounds testing their knowledge on the names of the characters, the context of who said to whom, Quidditch, NEWTs followed by a rapid fire round deciding the winners. The doctors who were a part of the quiz were bubbling with excitement for each answer. There were a few audience questions to which exhilarating hands flew up in the air.

Prizes were distributed to the winners by the chief guests and the event ended with a vote of thanks by Ms. Shree varshini (Sub-Head of Reading Club) to express our gratitude to everyone who was involved in making this event a grand success. The event was indeed a memorable one for doctors and the students.
