MUN conference on 12.11.2024 started with the committees being declared open by faculty Incharge Dr. Noel Naveen Johnson. This was continued by delegates giving their opening speeches in great spirits. Although the day moved faster with each moderated and unmoderated caucus, the delegates engaged in lively debate respectfully presenting their contrasting opinions. It was highly evident that delegates conducted extensive research on their countries, by bringing forward well-articulated points. Furthermore, the highlight of the conference was the active participation of the delegates. Even those who felt hesitant at the beginning started actively participating as the committee proceeded and new challenges like crisis were initiated.

The MUN ended with a presentation of resolution and a strong sense of community among the participating members. After a fun unmoderated caucus, there was a certificate distribution to the recognized delegates, and it was the pleasure of the chair-person and the co-chairs to even gift a chocolate to their favorite delegates. As the event concluded, delegates left with a sense of achievement and pride, knowing they had contributed to meaningful debates on some of the world's most pressing issues. Overall, Velammal MUN was not just a one-time event but the first step of countless future experiences for everyone involved.
